

WilKum

to Ohio's Amish Heartland, home of the largest Amish community in the world.

June brings a flurry of activity to the countryside. Driving by an Amish farm, you will often be treated to the sweet smell of grass being cut for hay. The end of the month is devoted to cutting and threshing the oats, wheat and barley. Neighbors literally "pitch in" to help each other, and the women keep the workers supplied with cold drinks.

Please respect the customs and beliefs of the Amish while you are here. Refrain from taking close-up photographs, and drive carefully. In summer, farm machinery and tractors – not to mention people walking and riding bicycles – join buggies and wagons on the roads. Enjoy your visit to Amish Country!