

HOW DO THE AMISH COMMUNICATE?

Just how do the Amish communicate without all the modern technology the “English” are accustomed to using?

Well, telephones do exist in the Amish communities. Most New Order Amish Families have telephones; some have them only to access answering machines and for emergencies. Pay telephones are found throughout the Amish communities, and they’re used as needed.

Since the Amish gather at church, social functions, weddings and auctions, they are together and share information frequently. The “Amish grapevine” gets the word out!
