consignment.

Which means that most of the antiques Ben sells literally show up on his front door step by people who are looking to sell their treasures to others.

Local consignors are from all over the area, and bring items like china cupboards, curved glass, mission-style and fancy side boards, round and square kitchen tables, hall seats, secretaries, barrister bookcases, two-piece cupboards such as Hoosiers, dry sinks and some bedroom suites, along with many other smaller pieces.

There is also a large section of clocks, pocket watches, table lamps, crocks, quilts, tin and porcelain signs, kitchen items, books, toys and tools.

They also specialize in Carnival Glass, and have a wide variety to choose from.

Customers coming to the antique mall travel from all over Ohio, but there are also many customers who are local, from neighboring counties, who are looking for
